

A UNIVERSE OF STORIES this Summer!

This summer the Wray Public Library is SPACIN' OUT with their Summer Reading Program! This free library program is open to all young people, ages 3* to 17, with four appropriate age groups. Readers are challenged to read one or more hours per week as their progress is tracked with reading punch cards, all readers are welcome to stop by the library during the program to have a librarian punch their reading card. However, all reading cards must be turned in by July 12!

Reading Cards

Each reading punch card represents a certain number of hours, dependent on the age group the child is in. Upon completion of a card participants will receive a prize. Coins are added to the case for each hour read. When the case is full of coins, we can have our Universe of Stories Pool Party. Readers will receive one punch for every hour read (or read to.) To complete your punch card, fill out the reading slip included in your bag, or pick up some slips at the library.

Prizes for completed cards are available on June 10, June 24 and July 8

Age Groups

*must be 3 by May 1st.

Programs

Throughout the summer each group will have programs, designed just for them. During these events, we may be crawling on the floor or building something messy, you just NEVER know, so we ask that children are dressed appropriately for these programs!

The first program will be Science Matters Program Wednesday, June 5 starting at 9am for ALL age groups.

Parents and siblings are invited to attend this program.

Activity Pages

Come to the library entryway and pick up some activity sheets to complete and return to the library Mondays through Fridays for tickets to add to the UNIVERSE OF STORIES case. Each week features new activity sheets, which include coloring pages, crafts, games, and tons more!
